EQUIPMENT

Useful Reference Points • www.hae.org.uk/businessguard

Before Starting Work...

Check the equipment cables, plugs, sockets and stands. If anything is found damaged, do not use it – contact the hire rain and water. Keep electrical equipment away from company.

- can produce as much heat as a 1kw electric radiant heater and can cause paper and cloth to ignite, check that no loose paper or rubbish can be blown into the area heated by the light. materials near floodlights. A floodlight
- they are going to be safe from vehicles, people, water, rain, strong gusts of wind For stand lights, choose an area where should be firm and level. them or knock them over. The ground and other hazards which may damage
- enough and secure. Take care to position lights up and away from where they may get struck by passing vehicles, For lights fixed to buildings or fixtures people or materials being carried. make sure that their support is strong
- in all cases, plan cable runs to avoid damage to the cables, and so that the cables themselves do not form a tripping
- hazard in doorways or walkways.
- In areas where members of the public are allowed, it may be necessary to put barriers around lighting stands to keep people away from the heat and to prevent them tampering with the light.

Lighting equipment is designed for installation by an able bodied adult. Anyone with either temporary or permanent disability must seek expert advice before using it.

Please keep this leaflet safely as it may be required for future reference

ĸ

6. Lighting equipment must not be installed by minors, or by anyone under the

5. Particular items of equipment or environments may require a higher level personal protective equipment. influence of drugs or alcohol.

a 230 volt (mains) supply.

4

Before switching off general or festoon lighting, make sure no one is going to be If the lights are left in place for more than a week, then a competent person should If the equipment does not work properly do not attempt to repair it, contact the

put in danger by the drop in lighting levels.

inspect them every week to ensure they are safe.

10. 6 8

Switch off and unplug lights before moving them to a new location. Switch off and unplug before leaving portable lights unattended.

Switch off lights before adjusting their position.

powerful and hot lights. do not use it again.

device (red) plugged directly in to the 230 volt socket. Plug the red. This will help to protect against electric shock if the cable or lights are damaged.

1. If 230v is selected for equipment construction sites or sim environments, the risk of injury or death arising from the use of damaged or faulty equipment leads or plugs is unacceptably high unless special precautions are taken. The precautions

230V EQUIPMENT ON CONSTRUCTION SITES

Make sure that any extension cable connections are dry and safe.

Lay it out carefully avoiding liquids, sharp edges, doorways or windows where it may become trapped, and places where vehicles might run over it.

Unroll it fully or it will overheat and could

If an extension cable is required, follow any special instructions given by the hire company. If the hire company have not given any special given any special instructions, a suitably rate heavy duty 110v extension cable only should be used, no longer than 50 metres (160 feet). The extension cable must only be used between the transformer and the used between the transformer and the lighting.

appropriate; or using special abrasion resistant or armoured flexible supply leads where

, Select equipment that is designed for trade and work use. Double insulated equipment is strongly recommended where it is necessary to use a mains voltage supply, because the equipment itself is less likely to give rise to danger. (Danger can still arise, however, if the cables, plugs or equipment casing are damaged). Any restrictions on use set out in the manufacturer's or supplier's instructions should be observed.

- protected against mechanical damage and vibration;

Health and safety authorities consistently recommend 110v systems as the bes as the bes equipment it is supplying during

the

checked daily by operating the tes-

must reduce the risk to an acceptable level.

- solution for reducing risk from portable, hand-held, and transportable equipment. A risk assessment carried out by the planning supervisor (or other person responsible for health and safety on site) is likely to indicate that risk of electric shock is most effectively controlled by the use of 110v equipment. formal visual inspection;
- being damaged by:
- protecting them inside impact resistant conduit where appropriate; or likely to be damaged. (e.g. run them at ceiling height inside a building); and/or
 - positioning them where they are less
- Reduce the risk of flexible supply leads tested every three months by an electrician using appropriate electrical test equipment. Note: the tests should not be carried out on rods at a time when loss of power may adversely affect other work activities.

Check that the plugs on the cables match the supply. Do not try to force connections or improvise them.

required, follow any special instructions given by the hire company. If the hire company have not

- a special 110v supply. The hire company will have provided a portable transformer Equipment with a cylindrical yellow industrial plug fitted is designed to run off take care not to injure yourself when moving it about - it may be heavier than a normal mains 230v supply. if the equipment requires powering from portable transformer has been supplied
- Equipment designed to run directly from 230v mains will have either a normal square pin plug fitted or a blue industrial

Lay the extension cable out carefully avoiding liquids, sharp edges, doorways or windows where it might become trapped, and places where vehicles might run over it. Unroll it fully or it will overheat and could catch fire.

ELECTRICAL SAFETY - GENERAL

The equipment will only operate on one voltage: it will be 110v or 230v. 110v lighting will have a yellow industrial plug littled. 230v lighting will have either a normal square plup plug fitted or a blue industrial plug. Read the instructions

(SQUARE PIN OR BLUE PLUG)

Make sure that any extension cable connections are dry and safe.

110 VOLT LIGHTING (YELLOW PLUG) industrial plug. Read below for the equipment.

If using a portable transformer, plug the transformer directly into the 230 volt socket. Do not use any 230v extension cables.

©Copyright Hire Ass

Any unauthorised reproduction – manually or electronically – is STRICTLY prohibited

- Look away before plugging in and switching on as powerful lights can
- replace all covers and guards properly and secure any screws or clips.
- When the light bulb has been changed,
- Do not touch halogen bulbs with bare fingers this will shorten the life of the bulb.

- ď
- Electricity is dangerous and must always be used with

Check that no combustible material, such as paper or rubbish, is too close to Ensure that nobody is staring at a powerful light when it is switched on - the dazzle can cause temporary blindness.

Do not connect more than four (4) festoon strings together unless the hire

High power lights may need to cool before handling.

Open any covers taking care not to lose any fixing screws or clips.

Ensure no-one will be put in any danger when switching off the lighting. Then, switch off and unplug the light. company has given special instructions

Using the Lighting Equipment

If a cable appears to be cut or damaged in any way, switch off and unplug at the mains before inspecting it. If the cable attached to a light is damaged, stop using the light. Contact the hire company. If an extension cable has been damaged,

Check that cable runs are being kept safe, and are not causing a hazard.

- great care.

- . რ

- Water and electricity make an extremely dangerous combination. Keep electrical equipment away from rain and water.
- The following items of personal protective equipment are a minimum: rcd if using

- Plan each task and try to foresee any problems that may occur so they can be dealt with safely.
- BEFORE using Festoon & Flood Lighting It is important to read all of this leaflet
- The rules and procedures in force where people are at work may require the person responsible for this equipment to carry out a specific fisk assessment.

Festoon & Flood Lighting

1021 Safety Guidance

For guidance on managing construction health risks go to www.hse.gov.uk/construction

Some festion lights have sockets so that strings of lights can be chained together. Do not try to use the socket to provide power to other equipment – it is only for connecting another string of lights. FESTOON LIGHTS

Make sure that you have the correct replacement bulb ready. Check with the hire company if in any doubt. CHANGING BULBS